REGISTRAR DAVID L. GREENE RESIGNS TO STUDY UNDER FELLOWSHIP

Royall Victor Fund Fellowships Awarded to College Registrar—
To Devote Study for Doctor's Degree in Education — Mr.
Greene Came Here in 1926—Resignation Effective in August.

David L. Greene, registrar of the college since 1926, has tendered his resignation in order that he may carry on studies under the Royall Victor Fund Fellowship awarded to him by Stanford University of California. The resignation will become effective August 15. Mr. Greene will devote his full time studying at the graduate school of the university and working towards a doctor's degree in education.

The Royall Victor Fund fellowship was established at the university in 1927 under the will of the late Charles F. Brooker who left the sum of $117,054 to the university in memory of Royall Charles Victor of the class of 1900. In making the fellowship awards preference is given to candidates of requisite qualifications who reside or have resided in Connecticut.

Mr. Greene came to the Connecticut Agricultural College in 1926 as registrar. During that year he also

"GROUND HOGS" WILL GET YOU—WATCH OUT

Spring is here and the "Ground Hogs" are out, according to indications on the campus during the past week when five freshman co-eds were to be seen walking around the campus and through the various buildings backwards with yellow ribbons and streamers flowing down their backs and around their heads, arms and feet.

The exalted order of 'Ground Hogs', the organization into which these five co-eds were being initiated, held its annual tapping event at the Co-ed Formal two weeks ago. The following freshmen were tapped and automatically became members of the order: Phyllis Hopkins, Helen Rafferty, Jean Matake, Beatrice George, and Evelyn Trowbridge.

EFFICIENCY IS AIM OF NEW COLLEGE POLICY BY DR. WORKS

President Points Out that Justification of Institution's Work Lies in Service to State Citizens—Policy Provides for Fulfillment of Ideal—Higher Institutional Standards Indicated.

ROOM RENT NEXT YEAR WILL BE HIGHER

This Easter vacation a dormitory inspection will be made by a committee headed by Dean Dole. The purpose of this inspection is to appraise the rooms and set a definite amount of rental for each individual room, the amount depending on room location. The rent in Hall Dorm will be higher than that for Storrs or Koons Hall. The new price scale will go into effect next September, at which time the rental scale will be published.

A new policy under which the various functions of the Connecticut Agricultural College will operate, was announced today by Dr. George Alan Works, President. The new policy provides for the unification of the various functions of each department in such a manner as to render the greatest possible service to the people of Connecticut.

In establishing the policy Dr. Works has made the following statement:

"The justification for the Connecticut Agricultural College lies in the service it renders the citizens of the State. This service is represented by three methods of working, viz., extension, research, and resident instruction. The institution is obligated to render in these three fields the maximum amount of the most efficient types of service practicable with the resources that are made available to it by the people of the State.

"The most important factor to be considered in the development of a

GAMMA CHI EPSILON ELECTS DR. WORKS

Dr. George Alan Works, president of the College, has been elected to membership in Gamma Chi Epsilon, the honorary scholastic fraternity of this institution.

The naming of students who have been elected to membership in Gamma Chi Epsilon and Alpha Tau Phi, honorary engineering fraternity, will be done at the Assembly hour this Tuesday morning. About ten are expected to be elected by the two fraternities.

ADMITTING WOMEN TO STORRS SCHOOL MAKES PERIOD OF GROWTH

Historical Sketch Reveals Heated Arguments Carried on in Senate in Early Nineties—Reports Made so as to Conceal Sex Identity—Grove Cottage is First Girls' Dormitory.

BY ANDRE SCHENKER
Instructor in History

Can any student imagine Connecticut Agricultural College without the co-eds? Yet such a Heaven (or Hell) existed once upon a time. During the first ten years of the Storrs Agricultural School's existence, this college either did not receive any applications from girls, or did not admit them. Somehow, girls could not be associated with an agricultural school.

But everyone knows the story of how women emancipated themselves, and took men's jobs away; so in the nineties girls began to enroll in the agricultural course of the Storrs school. Evidently the school administration had no objection, but the State Legislature was somewhat disturbed, and so on March 29, 1893, Senator Fox of New Haven speaking before the Senate said that the school had been diverted from its original purpose. "Young ladies had been allowed to take a course of instruction. Student's names were printed in the

MISS CLAPP AWARDED U. OF C. FELLOWSHIP

Elizabeth V. W. Clapp, investigator in home economics of the Storrs Agricultural Experiment Station, has been awarded a fellowship by the University of Chicago to carry on studies in home economics. Miss Clapp has been granted leave of absence from the experiment station staff in order to carry on this work which will lead

EQUALITY SEEKERS

Farming in the early nineties was considered to be a man-sized job. But when twenty women enrolled in the courses of the Storrs Agricultural School the State Senate was shocked.

'Charlie' Murphy and 'Dan' Chubbuck Elected to Captain Football and Basketball Teams for Next Year

Murphy Star of Gridiron for Two Seasons Past—Was Member of Hockey Team and Track Team.

At the recent elections held for the captaincy of next year's football and basketball teams, Charlie Murphy and Dan Chubbuck were respectively honored. The election was carried on in a different manner from usual this year, the captain of both teams being elected at the same time after a short notice given by the athletic coaches.

Murphy has played regularly on the varsity team for the past two years on both the line and in the backfield. He will be remembered for his long runs and his ability to snare the long passes of Tombari and Ryan. His all-round playing was perhaps the greatest factor in his choice for the captaincy.

In addition to playing football, Murphy has taken part in varsity track and last season he won his letter in hockey. He was president of his class in his freshman year. Murphy is a member of Eta Lambda Sigma.

PI ALPHA PI AND 'X' PRELIMINARY VICTORS

In the first series of the interfraternity bowling contests held on last Monday night, the Pi Alpha Pi and 'X' teams were victorious over Phi Mu Delta and Sigma Phi Gamma respectively.

On Thursday the remaining four fraternities were to have bowled to determine which teams would be represented in the semi-finals which will be rolled next week. Each of the winners in the preliminary matches is entitled to bowl against the other winner in its group in the semi-finals. Then the winning teams of the two groups will engage in a final roll to decide which shall win the cup. Last year's cup was won by Alpha Phi.

VARSITY OPENS SEASON AGAINST WEST POINT

Endee or Levanti to Substitute for Moore at Second—Kolb or Roever to Toe the Slab.

Tomorrow afternoon the Connecticut baseball nine will open its season against the West Point Cadets at West Point. Due to the ineligibility of Captain Moore, and handicapped by the adverse weather conditions of the past week, the prospects for victory in the opener are none too bright, but Coach Dole has succeeded in finding a fairly smooth-working team despite the handicaps mentioned.

Johnny Kolb will be the likely selection for the pitching, with Bill Roever possibly seeing action also. McCombe will be used in the outfield in the first game, and possibly until his knee is fully healed. Either Yuskevich or Tourville will draw the catching assignment. Ray Ryan will cover the initial sack, either Endee or Levanti will play at second, Tombari at short, and Darrow at third. Wilson will play in right field, Goebel in center, and McCombe in left.

The batting order will be as follows:

- McCombe
- Tombari
- Ryan
- Goebel
- Yuskevich or Tourville
- Wilson
- Darrow
- Endee or Levanti
- Kolb or Roever

Tomorrow's game will be the first one that Connecticut baseball teams have played with West Point since 1924. In that year the Cadets won by a score of 10-7 in a free-hitting contest.

ANDERSON WINS FROSH RIFLE MATCH

LeRoy Anderson, '33, fired 185 out of a possible 200 to win the freshman rifle competition Wednesday evening. This score is on a par with top varsity shooting. Fenton with 182 and Raven with a 174 were a close second and third. These men have succeeded in one season, under the coaching of Capt. Crowell, in training to varsity form and next season should make the varsity team.

The men who fired in this contest are the best shots in the freshman class. The contestants fired the following scores: Anderson 185, Fenton 182, Raven 174, Wright 170, Grant 166, Levine 158, St. Marie 157 and Ross 146.

NO HOME TRACK MEETS TO BE HELD THIS YEAR

First Meet at Norwich on April 26—Home Field in Poor Condition.

VARSITY TRACK SCHEDULE

Apr. 26—Norwich	Norwich
May 3 R. I. State	Kingston
May 17 E. I. A. A.	Worcester
May 20 Trinity	Hartford
May 24 N. E. I. A. A.	Boston

Changes have been made in the already brief track schedule which is to be carried out by the track team this season. Due to the poor drainage and the resulting moist condition of the track at Gardner Dow Field, Connecticut has been obliged to transfer its home meets with Rhode Island and Trinity to the fields of those institutions. Both have excellent facilities for the holding of the meets at those places.

The first meet of the season for the Aggie tracksters is only two weeks off, and as yet the squad has failed to show any promise of a world-beating team. A large part of the rather poor showing of the team is due to the inability of the members to keep up their studies and thereby avoid that future and ever-present, inevitable evil—probation.

Coach Bitgood has stated that the freshman prospects have shown up well thus far, but a few more men could be used in the weight events. He is of the opinion that there is much material in the freshman class if the men would present themselves for tryouts.

SPIKES

For some time the boys have been out taking the rust from their joints and spikes. The only trouble is that there aren't enough showing an active interest in the track sport.

The first meet of the season will be held at Norwich, Vermont. Norwich has defeated the C. A. C. team the past two years by very small margins of 3 1-2 and 2 points each year. If it were not for the scholastic difficulties encountered by some of the veterans, there would be no question of the outcome this year.

Chubbuck Mainstay of Court Team for Two Years—Star in Track Events—Holder of Five College Records—High Scorer in Basketball.

The election of "Big Dan" Chubbuck was a well-deserved one. Dan has been one of the mainstays of the varsity basketball team for the past two years and during the season just closed proved to be the highest scorer of the season with 154 points to his credit in fifteen games. In addition to his ability on the basketball court, Chubbuck is one of the best track men ever to represent the college. He broke five college records last year, he set a new record in the discus throw in the Eastern Intercollegiate with a heave of 130 feet, 3 inches, and later he again broke the discus record with a toss of 137 feet in a meet with Trinity. The college records which he holds are: 100-yard dash, 10 seconds; broad jump, 21 feet, 6 inches; discus, 137 feet and 9 inches; shot put, 43 feet and 7 1-2 inches; and the 220-yard low hurdles, 26 and 3-5 seconds.

Chubbuck will be entered in the Decathlon events at Pennsylvania later this month. He is a member of Eta Lambda Sigma.

CHUBBUCK TO ENTER DECATHALON EVENTS

Immediately following the Easter vacation, Dan Chubbuck, crack Aggie trackster, will leave for the Penn Relays which are to be held on Friday and Saturday, April 25 and 26. Chubbuck will participate in the Decathlon events and in the discus throw.

The Decathlon consists of ten events: 100-meter dash; 120-meter

MUST PAY FOR MEDICAL SERVICE

Recently a comparatively unknown fact was brought to the attention of the Campus when Mr. R. I. Longley, Comptroller, stated in an interview that while no charge is made for infirmary service, any medical attention in the dormitories is charged for. Dr. Simonds gives his time to the college free of charge when he makes his weekly visits to the infirmary, but he cannot be expected to make special trips to students' individual rooms without making some charge.

Debut Fauvic Storrs was started on this test when she was 5 years and 3 mos. of age and with this record again qualified for the Register of Merit of the American Jersey Cattle Club. Her sire is January Lady's Owl and her dam is Fauvic's Beadesert.

HIT THE BOOKS

And now comes Easter Vacation with all its nice weather, maybe, and seven whole days just chuck full of sport and good clean fun, perhaps. The vacation which comes at this time every year was designed primarily to give the students a little respite from their studies and a chance to catch up on their sleep. However, a recent survey of the behavior of students on spring vacations shows us that most of the students ought to be catching up on their studies and moreover, they don't get any sleep.

In spite of a huge number of good intentions to do right by the books at this time, the last day of vacation generally comes around to find that so far, the books have been used only for suitcase ballast. Now this is just too bad. Think of the good impression which could have been made on the folks at home if a few of the balmy evenings had been spent sitting around the kitchen range with a few text-books in hand. They would think sure enough that "our boy Ned must be learning a lot at college. He must be taking a big interest in his studies; he was never like this before."

But take the average college student. Given a few days vacation what does he do? That's right, very little. He spends most of his nights prowling around the countryside, and most of days looking ill and making the folks wonder if he isn't working too hard at school.

Well, it all boils down to this, Agguys, study and stay at home nights while you're home because you'll need plenty of energy for the last lap of the college year when you get back on the hill.

Co-ed Notes

The last group to go into the Home Management House this season are Elizabeth Alling, Laura Kingsbury, Edna Wilcox, Marion Wilcox, Dora Ward, and Prudence Deane. This group will have a task of choosing over-drapes for the dining room along with their other duties.

Co-eds of the Junior class have chosen the Junior costumes. The committee for this work consisted of E. V. Johnson, Dorothy Alling and Edith Short.

The co-eds of the Sophomore class are right there when it comes to action—this time they are planning a dinner dance to be held in the Community House on May 3.

At a class meeting called a short time ago the following chairmen were elected to make the dance a success: Martha Miller, chairman of the refreshments committee; Helen Smith, chairman of the music committee; and Helen Read, chairman of the decorations committee.

The Home Economics Club held a regular meeting last Tuesday evening. Mrs. Deane of the Hartford High School was the speaker. During a week in May the Home Economics Club will take charge of some high school girls who will be present at a home economics conference.

Spring is here for fair. The Girls Hockey squad had its first practice on Wednesday. Everyone is enthusiastic and it certainly is a great feeling to be swinging the old sticks again.

Last Friday night the co-eds at the Home Management House entertained with an informal bridge party at which twenty couples were present. Arline Hegewald won the first prize, which consisted of a pewter dish. Refreshments were served.

Those who attended were: Dr. E. SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED
FOR GROUP MEETINGS

Several group meetings and conferences are scheduled to be held at the college before the end of the present school term according to an announcement. The Librarians of Eastern Connecticut will be here on April 17. The Annual Judging Contests of state high school students studying agriculture will be held on April 26. On May 17 the annual conference of student home economics clubs of the high schools of the state will be held at the invitation of Miss Mildred P. French. The Connecticut Members of New England Modern Language Association will be the guests of Professor Arsene Croteau on May 17. A group of business men from East Hartford will be the guests of the college on May 22.

COMMITTEE OFFERS WASHINGTON ETCHING

The President's Office has been informed that the National Washington Portal Committee has secured control of the plates of the Gaspard etching of George Washington, executed by the artist shortly before his death.

The committee desires to place this etching in every university, college, and fraternity hall in the country if possible, in order that the younger generation may be benefited by the inspiring influences which it recalls. The etching, with margin, measures 15 by 20 inches and ordinarily should retail from ten to twenty dollars each.

So that the price may not prevent the accomplishment of the committee's purpose, the committee offers the etching of Washington at the small price of two dollars each. All fraternities and faculty members on the campus desiring to take advantage of the generous offer should file their orders and leave the necessary amount of money with Mrs. Clark in the President's office. The orders and money will be forwarded to the committee and the etchings sent here within a few days.

For the week-end the College Players travel to the southwestern part of the state, giving "The Mollusc" this evening at Danbury and again on Saturday evening at New Canaan.

Did you hear that one about the English Prof who was giving the class a few pointers on short story writing?

"To be successful," he said "the short story should have a touch of reverence, some reference to royalty, and just a little touch of risqué. See if you can write a little something for me tomorrow that will cover these points."

The next day a budding author handed in the following: "My God, said the Countess, take your hand off my knee."

"There's the man I'm laying for," said the hen as Bill Brown crossed the road.

According to a leading medical authority, when the eyes are shut the hearing becomes more acute. We have noticed a lot of students trying this experiment in class.

Our idea of an optimist is the man who went into a restaurant and with no money in his pockets ordered a dozen oysters, hoping to find in one of them a pearl with which to pay for them.

This week's tight joke is about the Scotchman who gave his son 25c a day providing he would save it. Then he would take the boy down cellar and tell him the gas meter was a bank. And by the way, he's the same fellow that spanked his son for rinsing out his shaving brush.

This week the good old Loving Cup takes a trip up the Hill and thereby gives us the pleasure of awarding to Sam Harger and Helen Loveland the aforementioned Cup with printed instructions for its use.

Aggie—Do you believe in the hereafter?

Co-ed—Why, certainly.
Aggie—Well, how about a little necking; that's what I'm here after.

SPEND TIME AND MONEY FOR COURSE

Dr. Henry K. Denlinger, professor of history, has been conducting a class in public speaking at Putnam. This class was organized early in the year for an eight weeks' session, lectures being given once a week from 7:30 to 9:30 each Tuesday evening. Many of those who took this course under Dr. Denlinger desired a continuation of the instruction so that a second but more advanced course was arranged with lectures at the same hours on alternate Monday evenings. Taking the course in public speaking are tradesmen, lawyers, bankers, teachers, salesmen and housewives.

Dr. Henry K. Denlinger

From the favorable reports and from the fact that these people are giving their time and money for the conducting of the course it may be deduced that the teaching has been found to be of practical value. As those who have taken the public speaking course here at Storrs know, Dr. Denlinger conducts his course with an eye to eradicating voice defects and developing an ease in speaking rather than devoting his efforts to oratory or declamation.

And for the Hall of Fame this week we nominate Ourselves, because after writing Alfaly Sez for a whole year. we happened to mention last week how green a certain patch of 'grass' was and we were politely informed that that 'grass' was Alfaly.

And now it's got to this. Some of the co-eds are refusing bids to a certain fraternity's house party because the women already have the favors that the certain fraternity is giving.

April 26 will probably be a big day for 'Big Dan', for on that day he is scheduled to leave for the Penn. Relays. There Dan will take part in the Decathlon and discus events. Good luck to the big boy. May he bring home some bacon.

The team this year seems weak in the weight events. Not that there aren't enough 'weighty men' in College, but they seem reluctant to spend a few hours in an effort to make C. A. C. favorably known in the field events. This is particularly true of the freshman class. Why not take a broad hint and show off your wares?

The distance events should be well taken care of by Gwin, White and Barnes, all of whom were varsity men last year. These men have had the advantage of a season's experience at cross-country running, which should help some.

Earle Williams should account for some of the points to be gained from the weight events this year. This boy finds time between trips to Willi to put in a very favorable practice session every day.

In the pole vault Rathbun and Jackson are with us from last year.

"The Flying Fish," Sam Harger, will probably be seen dashing down the straight-away in the prints. Sam has to keep busy going from one sport to another these days, yet seems to find time for them all.

Let's hope that some day we will have some system for keeping the track dry. Every time it rains we have to swim to get on the track and swear before we get off. Why not finish the job started two years ago and put in a track the boys can run on without sinking in the mud? The College is presumably 'dry' but the track is all 'Wet'.

hurdles; 1500-meter run; 400-meter run; shot put; javelin throw; discus; broad jump; high jump; and pole vault.

Chubbuck will be the first man ever to represent Connecticut in this meet. He will be up against some extremely hard competition, as will be evidenced by the fact that Barney Berlinger, last year's high man from the University of Pennsylvania will be among those competing.

Connecticut would have been able to have sent down a fairly good relay team had it not been for the fact that a meet had already been arranged with Norwich University on the same day.

The varsity team will fire what is probably the last contest of the season when it goes to Glastonbury on Monday evening to fire a match with the Glastonbury Rifle Club.

NEW COLLEGE POLICY

unified service of this kind is subject matter. Method, while important, is a secondary consideration. As a means of securing the maximum degree of unity of effort, subject matter (as represented by departments) and not the type of work that is done will be made as far as practicable, the unit of administration. This policy will mean that budgets, appointments, promotions, bulletins and circulars issued, and housing so far as it is feasible will be worked out on the basis of departments.

"This policy will not eliminate the directors as factors in the work of the extension and station divisions. All projects, all appointments, all budgets, all promotions will be subject to their approval. In case of extension workers the scheduling of their field work will rest with the director of extension and research projects on the station funds will be subject to the approval of the director of the station.

"This method of procedure will place a definite responsibility on the head of the department to make a place in his thinking for all the types of work represented in the department. It means that there will have to be full, frank and free conference within departments in the determination of all policies affecting any phase of the department's work. It also calls for a complete co-operation between the directors and the heads of departments. Furthermore, it implies that in making appointments to the headship of departments members of the staff will be on the same basis regardless of whether they are in extension, research, or resident instruction."

JUNIOR WEEK PLANS

this time the local R. O. T. C. unit will be visited by the Corps Area officers on their annual inspection trip. No definite plans have been made for the events following this drill until Friday night when the Junior Prom is scheduled.

Saturday morning the dedication of the class tree will take place. The Junior Parade is scheduled for the early part of that afternoon followed by a baseball game with Trinity. A tea dance will be given after the baseball game.

The week will be fittingly climaxed by a play presented by Theta Alpha Phi. There is a possibility that an interclass track meet and also the freshman-sophomore bag scrap will be worked into the program of the week.

ADMITTING WOMEN TO STORRS

report with only initials to conceal whether they were girls or boys." Mr. Fox further asserted "that the managers had no rights to admit girls on any ground or for any purpose."

But the very next day, John L. Saxe of Waterbury, pointed out before the House how fitting and necessary it was that the farmer's wife should be able to help the farmer in his work. 'Surely,' he added, 'no one will attempt to degrade womanhood, when she stands side by side with her husband whom she has chosen to support.' Following this statement, the House roared in laughter.

Finally after several days of heated debates which resulted in the elevation of the Storrs Agricultural School to the title of the Storrs Agricultural College, it became definitely understood that girls were welcome at Storrs. That very same fall, 1893, the college offered, for the first time, a course in 'domestic science'.

The first year's enrollment was twenty girls. The college, however, was not prepared to handle this feminine invasion, and in the following years the number was cut in half. In 1895 the Crane Farm, a farm which consisted of 125 acres of land and extending from the now demolished old main building southward, was bought for $6,000 and the Legislature voted $12,000 for the erection of a girls' cottage.

Till it was destroyed by fire a few years ago, the cottage occupied the location where the modern Charles Lewis Beach administration and science building now stands. The cottage was a wooden structure and was at the time the college's best looking building.

Of the life at Grove Cottage, as the co-ed building was known, the following report was made in 1900 to President G. W. Flint, by the matron then in charge:

"At the beginning of the fall session nine young ladies were admitted as residents at the cottage. Two of that number have since entered the families of members of the faculty, and their places have been filled by two recent arrivals.

"Our college family is harmonious and united. A spirit of mutual good feeling and helpfulness prevails, and such earnestness is shown in the general school work. Our young ladies take great interest in their home, and are enthusiastic to contribute by their handiwork to the homelike appearance of the interior. We hope to increase our resources so that we may be able to relieve the bareness of our walls by means of suitable pictures, and to decorate by other devices various charming nooks and corners, whose beauty exists now chiefly in their possibilities. What involves sacrifice or labor on our part is, as a rule, dear to us; and I do not doubt our cottage will seem more really a home if we help each other to make it lovely.

"Our social life is enlivened by monthly receptions to the faculty and students, occasions much prized by the young people. We are at home informally Friday evenings, when the young ladies living away from the cottage and the young gentlemen students are at liberty to call. Wednesday evening the guests are entertained at tea, and Saturday evening is devoted to the meeting of the Alethia Society, in which the young ladies find great pleasure. So, that with choir rehearsals, class meetings—and there seems to be a strong class sentiment—Christian Endeavor meetings and other regular and occasional, the weeks pass pleasantly and swiftly.

"A supply of medicine is kept for use in ordinary cases of sickness and the college telephone (only one at the college) quickly summons a physician if anxiety is felt.

"The table is provided with wholesome food, well cooked and in abundance.

"The housework is, with the exception of cooking, done entirely by the students."

Dear old cottage. What a contrast to the present dormitory equipped with every modern convenience and built in three stories to house ninety-five women students in single rooms. In addition this dormitory, built in 1921, contains the offices, laboratories and class-rooms of the division of home economics. The old cottage of the nineties. Typical of college life—no. Typical of New England—yes.

MISS CLAPP WINS FELLOWSHIP

to a doctorate in home economics. She will enter the university next October and study until June when she expects to have completed the necessary requirements.

Miss Clapp is a graduate of Vassar receiving her B.A. degree in 1923. She joined the staff of the Storrs Experiment Station in 1927. During the years Miss Clapp has been associated with this institution she has carried on some studies and is now qualified to work for a doctor's degree without taking a master's. Miss Clapp will return to Storrs following her work at the University of Chicago.
